Grandpa, We are all still thinking of you. You were loved by so many. You proved that the common man is not so common but that he (you) can make a difference in so many lives. You taught me that being a good father, husband and friend is what's important in life. We should all be so lucky to live a life as full as yours. I know when ever I feel weak or question what to do I just refer back to you and the answer becomes clear. Thanks for being such a great grandpa. Love, Jimmy

To Frank's Family: My friendship with Frank goes way back to high school days. My friends and I would ride the city bus home from AHS at the same time that Frank & his pals did from their day shift. Frank enjoyed kidding us unmercifully daily. After I was married, my husband & I found we were members of Sleepy Hollow Country Club along with Frank and renewed our friendship there. Now in recent years when Frank & Sylvia were united in marriage we've been neighbors and friends once again. Bob & I will always remember Frank fondly. In Christian love and friendship, Friends, Bob & Lou Clayton

I came to know Frank when he married my aunt Sylvia. When my dad was alive, they often went to breakfast w/ my parents after church on Sundays. It was nice to see Frank and Sylvia find happiness together and it was wonderful how he took such good care of her. He was a good man and my thoughts and prayers are with you during this difficult time.

I would like to express my condolences to the family and friends of Frank. It seems so unfair that death has the power to take away someone we love. Please read John 11:20-27 to get the hope of a resurrection for our dear loved ones.

i lived down the street from Mr. Cironi on Seneca, when i was growing up (4-18). we became friends when i was very young, as his daughter babysat for us occasionally, and i spent many hours running up and down the street, and in the fields behind his house. he ALWAYS had a warm smile for me, and used to get such pleasure from teasing me....are you Twisty or Christi? ohhh your name is Crusty? are you sure that your name isn't Twisty? he always had a way of making me laugh and feel special. One Halloween, he taught me a very important life lesson that i have never forgotten. i went to his door with my friend, Joyce McKee, and he had the ever coveted multi-surprise gift bag as his treat! we shared that information with the neighborhood boys, who then ran to his door to receive their treat. i hung in the background, as i had already visited his door earlier. he INSISTED that i come up and get ANOTHER treat for being honest.....and i never forgot that simple, basic lesson. I left Ohio just after college, visiting Alliance frequently, but never crossing paths with him for many, many years. But i wanted you to know that his sweetness, and wonderful interactions with me as a young child have never been forgotten. I have spoken of him often, and will remember him always....with joy and a smile. respectfully, christi barret
